Apantac DVI-E EDID Emulator

The DVI-E EDID Emulator from Apantac can be used to store EDID information cloned from an EDID learner to optimize output quality of the source device. The emulator will store only the last set of information provided by the learner.